CLOSING 194

Life has taken on a definite form; its plan has become a reality; what remains is a belief in the purpose.

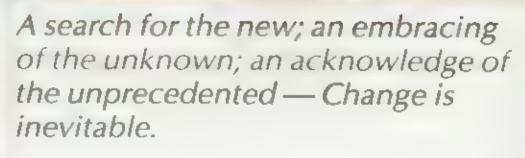

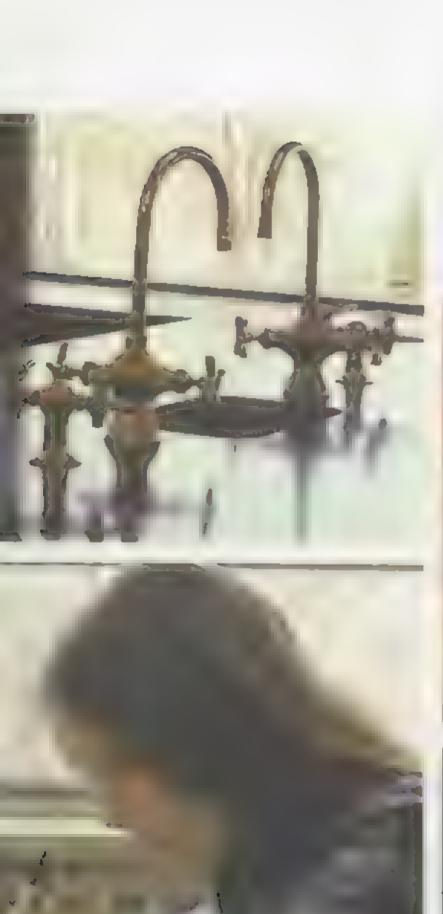

Like the detail of a cut gem, life is composed of many facets. Passing from one phase to the next, it is necessary to pause and consider life's direction. As the facets take on design, meaning becomes self-evident.

M.R. Hierarchy

At a time when the cost of education was skyrocketing, it was essential to both the individual and the future of all, that provisions were made for each student to have the apportunity of obtaining a quality education at a minimal cost, in spite of mounting financial burdens. This was one of the main purposes in establishing Maria Regina Diocesan High School Under the guidance of our newly-installed Bishop of Rockville Centre, the Most Reverend John R. McGann D.D., together with his dedicated associates, there was confidence that the diocesan school system would endure

Fr. Mullen finds everything up to par

Hail to the Chief

In the course of our years with him, Father John Mullen, M.R.'s principal, found time to reach out to the students, in spite of his many administrative commitments. One couldn't help but remember seeing Father roaming the halls; occasionally stopping to exchange words with passing students; and even observing some Home Economics classes

Since cooperation between the administration and student body was of natable importance to the unity of the school, Father Mullen became its guided force. He gave much in terms of support and concern, even when the job was easier said than done

At a time when past events are recapped and reviewed, the Class of 1977 takes the opportunity to formally acknowledge. Father Mullen. Though we take leave of the security we have known for several years, we remain a part of the growing Maria Reging community — a community that owes more than these simple words of gratitude to Father John Mullen.

Directly transforming thought feeling and mood into physical design art functions on the artist's ingenuity and magination. After attending several classes, the aspiring artist had become attached to the Art Room, the tam har odor of wet paint and warrish, the sight of charcoal and clay. The atmosphere in class was related and the student was free to express himself creatively.

New to the department and an off-shoot at the standard courses was the Art Service program. The purpose of this elective was two to displays for various school projects and events.

Certainly, much credit was due the individual who strove to achieve satisfaction from his work. Equally notable was the art faculty, whose expertise made this possible

The values and ideas presented by the English Department encouraged variety and creativity in our self-expression

The Freshman course was primarily geared toward the building of a firm foundation in English genre. As Sophomores, we seemed to go from "innocence to experience" in Jerms of analyzing literary works.

Electives were affered in Junior year, allowing the individual to pursue his special interests. Class excursions to view the Broadway hit, PIPPIN, and the Academy Award winning film, ONE FLEW OVER THE CUCKOO'S NEST, were some of the high points of Junior year. Naturally, there was hard work and it came in the form of preparation for the awesome English Regents. After overcoming that obstacle, it became much easier to enjoy the Senior curriculum which was both challenging and practical. Topics including public speaking, expository writing, and journalism highlighted our ost year at M.R.

Assisting students in academic growth and adjustment was the aim of the Guidance Department

With over 90% of Maria Regina's seniors continuing their education at college, the department established the college career room to provide information on most colleges and career fields. Group guidance sessions permitted students to meet and talk with college and technical school representatives

The Guidance Department secretories offered assistance to the counselors and were, at times, counselors to many students seeking advice. In our Seniar year, these secretories become of greater importance as they handled transcripts and college applications for the Seniar class.

The world is a prism of collares and languages. Each reflection adds some of its richness to the world as a whole. The Language Department incorporated this concept into its presentation on foreign cultures and ideas

The faculty provided a colorty array of subject matter. The language lab was numbered among the more memorable features, so ated in an assigned booth, the student repeated phrases mechanically, unaware of the exact meaning. However, through class repetitions and vocabulary quizzes, he find by gained a foothold in the language. Undoubtedly, none could forget misused genders, learning unfamiliar, tenses, r-r-rolling r's, and the amusement provided by one another's mispronunciations.

Yet studies encompassed for more than grammar. By way of textbook dia agues and readings, one became acquainted with the culture associated with the language he was learning. He became aware that the study of a foreign language was a many faceted experience.

Progress and growth were clearly part of the experience at Mar a Regina as was evidenced by the Mathematics Department. Geared toward proctical application, mathematics was the framework around which so many related studies took their form. Competition participation, and exercise are key factors in the development of both mind and body. The Physical Education Department, headed by Mrs. Margaret Firth and Mr. A fred De Stefano, always managed to stir up challenges amid enjoyment.

Freshman year provided the first toste of a gym program specially designed to expose the student to as many activities as possible. Brimming over with enthusiasm, an attempt was made at coordinating oneself in gymnastics, basketball, soccer, dodge ball, volleyball, as well as a vonety of other sports.

Throughout Sophomore and Junior years, emphasis was placed on becoming more proficient in all of these sports, particularly, one's specialty.

Senior year definitely had its advantages, but the most outstanding of these were the coled gymic assess which were celebrating their fourth successful year. Being able to choose from a selection of activities ranging anywhere from table tennis archery badminton, and fing football to weightlifting, basketball logging and dance, the participant was offered a means to increase his skill in an activity of his choice.

Every person yearns for the "space" in which to grow and acquire self-awareness, according to Werner Erhard. Once he finds this "space," he is capable of taking responsibility for his life; thus he is better able to relate to his community, his world, and his God

The Religion Department recognized this notion and strove to provide each student with the opportunity to deepen his experience of life.

Supplemented by readings, guest speakers, and movies, class discussions were a positive approach to the vital issues affecting the contemporary Christian. With a curriculum designed to augment an understanding of Christian philosophy and principles, it followed that each student was able to emerge as an individual equipped with the Christian values so necessary to our contemporary society.

Like the kalle doscope in its use of multiple reflections, the Science Department, under the direction of Sister Rosemary Stankis, chairperson, functioned on the principle of militiple challenges. Every student was involved in the study of Physical Science and Biology, and a large percentage ventured into additional tields which included Chemistry. Earth Science, Anatomy and Physiology, and Physics. At an early stage in the game, the student became aware of the need for careful analysis. logic and a degree of determination when approaching a point in question. Naturally, it followed that each course had its memorable moments.

Certainly no Chemistry student forgot the seemingly endless and unyielding number of lops that so characterized this program. The involved biologist always recalled such highlights as hi, struggle to keep the goldfish alive while observing its circulatory system. As far as Earth Science was concerned, one never forgot the sight of an entire class holding thermometers up to the ceiling as each person tried to confirm the fact that hot air rises. And, of course, just the mention of beads and bead balances was enough to stir up a "string" of freshman memories.

Without fail, each course had much to offer in respect to academics, as well as

The musical experience is of itself unique. With roots reaching beyond time, music is the fulfillment of one's desire for a means of self-expression, amusement and universal communication.

It was with these prevailing thoughts that the members of the Music Department created and continued to offer a fine musical program. In addition to the general music appreciation course, the department granted the student the option of pursuing studies through participation in the Band, Glee Club, and Concert Choir. For the student with the inquisitive mind and the willingness to accept a challenge, courses in theory and conducting were affered.

Social Health, a relatively new and continually expanding department, opened its program to interested students of all grades. The program began as a non-academic thrust in which teachers and fellow students shared concern for life situations. Social Health encompassed many aspects of the students' lives including extensive peer group counseling, and global issues

Social Health was the stepping stone between human and spiritual development. Under the direction of Sister Patricia Kollmer, the students gained self awareness while developing an emotional and social understanding of their environment as well as their peers.

In Memoriam

We, the class of 1977, would like to express our deepest sympathy to the family and friends of Mrs. Muriel Grubbs. Mrs. Grubbs had been a caring and true friend to the Maria Regina Family.

During her years at Maria Regina, Mrs. Grubbs served as secretary to Sr. Jean Toolan and the past year to Fr. Mullen. She had seen Maria Regina flourish through many years of growth and accomplishment. It is with much respect and sadness that we dedicate this memoriam to her.

Disguise the Limit

On October 31, the halls of MR were alive with the laughter of Halloween. The dazzling array of costumes ranged from nightmarish apparitions, monsters, and witches to the fantasy figures of Peter Pan and Raggedy Ann. Many could recall being greeted by a figure in a nun's habit, only to be surprised at finding out that she was a classmate in disguise

The students were not the only participants in this merry masquerade, even the Sisters got into the act. Exchanging habits, the Daminican Sisters dressed in blue, while the Immaculate Heart of Mary Sisters were white

For some, Halloween was a legitimate excuse to engage in the obsurd, but for most of us at MR, it was a time filled with a certain element of surprise

It's Beginning to Look a Lot Like . . .

'Twas the week before Christmas, when all through the school, Every student was stirring, the classrooms were cool. Stockings were hung by the lockers with care, In hope that Kris Kringle soon would be there. In the gym were students all snug in their beds, While visions of Candy Canes danced in their heads. And girls wearing bells from their heads to their toes, Ware decorating lockers with cute little bows. When on down the hall grose such a clatter, Everyone ron to see what was the matter. There by the window it had grown in a flash, A little Christmas Tree, to the school added class. The sun in the sky said, "There'll be no snow." Yet never could this make our spirits low. Then, what to our wondering eyes should appear, But a miniature sled and eight tiny reindeer; Adorning some lockers, so cheery and slick. One homeroom door donned july St. Nick When the bell sounded, out of the classrooms they come, All whistling and shouting, and calling out names: "Hey Sue! Hi Jim! Where's Andy or Kim? Find Maryl How's Dan! Could you please find him?" To the top of the stairs, to the garland hall, "Now sing carals! Sing carals! Sing carals all!" As the art service practiced decorative design, They met no obstacles, their abilities fine. Snowflakes and stables are just what they drew, And sieighs full of toys and Santa Claus too. In the air could be heard the band's Christmas tunes, The flutes, clarinets, trombones and bassoons. Being oh so sneaky and glancing around, Kris Kringle at a locker, not making a sound. With everyone dressed from head to foot, Who could find room for it all to be put? With cords and gifts to add to the mess, Where it all came from, no one could guess! All eyes were a-twinkle, all smiles were merry, Cheeks were like roses, noses like chernes. The colors of the day were red and green; All were happy, as it could be seen. The smell of peppermint was everywhere, And any old Scrooge would have to beware -For the spirit of Christmas, the love in our hearts Can never be stifled, when so ever it starts For some it is the mon with the big round belly You remember don't you, he shook like jelly? But for those of us who have the true meaning, Sonta brings happiness which is only fleeting. We praise and we sing to a Babe which was born Quite a long time ago on Christmas morn. We know the joy that Christmas does bring-The birth of Our Lord, Our Savior, Our King. Treasure these memories in each coming year, Our highs, Our lows, the friends we hold dear. Christmas comes and too soon leaves our sight, So Merry Christmas to all and may they always be whitel

Whether we wanted to concentrate or not, there were times during our high school days when we did study. These rare occasions seemed natural in freshman year, but as the years progressed academics become much harder and less frequent

As the responsibilities of Senior year come upon us so did such distroctions as hunting for a job; the search for an appropriate college; planning for the prom, and just enjoying our last moments together as a class

We will always recall the race with the clock to finish lab reports, English assignments, and term papers. Though the course requisites were intense, they did pay off in the long run-

The culmination of our high school life was Senior year with all its advantages. Most Seniors were faced with free time and the responsibility to use it wisely the lucky ones who had cars could go home early, while others had to be content staying in the cafeteria to enjoy various forms of amusement ranging from Slop Jack to Jeopardy.

As the year progressed, Senioritis evolved and became more intense. Senioritis wasn't a physical disease, nor written in any medical books, yet wasn't it strange that nearly everyone who reached his Senior year in high school went through it? Yes, it was that perplexing affliction, which, for some of us, brought on a feeling of baredom as the hours passed, while for others, an anxious rest lessness arising from the impatient yearning for graduation

Expressed Individualism

I wish they at could be Culdoin a girls - dreams Stave Nachese (right).

Generations are often associated with the fashions and fads of their teen years. Alas, we will be no different. The time will come when we will lough at what we once thought to be stylish.

Even in the past four years, girls' fashions changed. Hoir styles went from long and straight to the shag, page-boy, wedge and blow-cut. Skirts became longer while pants took on the "goucho" look. The scooped neck of the T-shirt was soon replaced by the cowl neck. Platform shoes were eventually traded in for earth shoes and boots. Who ever said girls were fickle?

The male element also passed through nonceable taste changes. Haircuts went from short to long and back to a shorter style, offering the choice of middle or side parts. Slacks moved from the bell-bottom to the straight-leg look. Even the leather jacket was a common sight: was it a return to the styles of the 50's or a sign that "the Fonz" was the first and last word in fashion?

Throughout these years, we tried to remain obreast of the latest styles; however, in time, the fashions we favored will become outdated and perhaps, outlandish. Yet, come what may, the clothes we wear depict an integral part of our personality

Sue Scarpato chuckles, "You mean to tell me that all this white stuff is just soop flokes?"

This year, more frequently than in previous, Old Man Winter spread his white blanket of snow over the Island. To most students, snow brought the prospect of closing school and spending the time with friends: sleigh riding, tobogganing, ice-skating and skiing Samehow, the snow seemed to make our winter days warmer, even though most of us had red noses and numb toes.

Trudging to the bus stop during the early morning hours, while the wind whipped through the trees and chilled us to the bone, were experiences one would readily prefer to forget. Yet, the peals of laughter and shouts of excitement helped to broadcast the unanimous sentiment; winter was upon us and we were going to enjoy every minute of it.

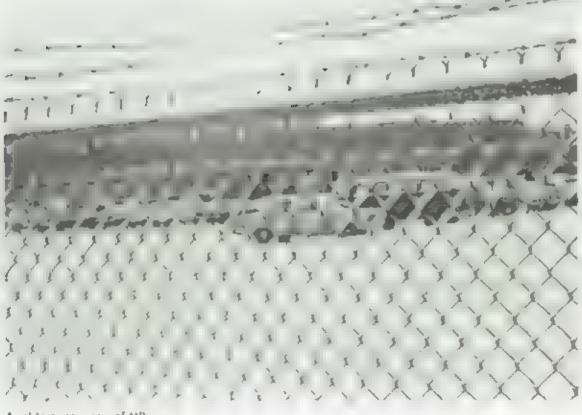

More often than not, snow helped to drive away the midwinter "blahs" that sometimes plagued us. In class, our attention was diverted to the windows, where we gazed out into a gray-white world of snow and ice. Naturally, clusters of students could be seen during free periods and lunch time, sledding on cafeteria trays and having snowball fights

When the snow finally melted and spring appeared on the scene, we were filled with a certain relief — the warmer weather was a welcome change. Yet, the heat of summer would, soon enough, bring on the inevitable yearning for the cooler weather, the thrill of winter sports, and the lovely sight of snow falling gently, sparkling in the light

On March 12, 1976, we were truly a class united, as we entered the auditonum for the opening of our Ring Day celebration

Meaningful songs helped to create a reminiscent mood as our class officers spoke about our past experiences at MR, and what our present Senior year would hold. After blessing our rings, Father Sullivan spoke to us of the purpose of our Ring Day and the role we were to play in the Maria Regina Community. The tune. This Magic Mament of maxed the ceremony as each Junior proudly received his ring, the initial status symbol of a Senior. A special breakfast followed during which we symbolically turned one another's rings for good luck. That evening, our day was brought to a close with the Ring Day Dance.

One could be sure that for the next two weeks, every Junior spent at least one period each day gazing at his ring hand and studying the shapes it reflected. Our rings were, and continue to be, a symbol of pride in ourselves and the part we played at Maria Regina High School

Each spring, one special evening was reserved for those students who possessed creative abilities in the field of sewing. They were able to display their creations at the annual Sewing Contest sponsored by the Mother's Club.

At the fashion bonanza, Mrs. Constance Stall and Mrs. Margaret Firth acted as moderator and commentator respectively. The contest was divided into three basic categories: daytime and evening aftire, plus sportswear

As each designer modeled her creation, the entry was judged on the basis of appearance and detail. Cash prizes were awarded to the first, second and third place winners. Since the occasion offered an opportunity for growth in self-confidence and poise, it was certainly a rewarding experience for every participant.

Unique among the extracurricular activities was the Blue-White Team competition known as Sports Night. Featuring Junior and Sophamore girls engaged in singing, dancing, tumbling and acting, together with games and races, this event attracted audiences to an annual sell-out performance

Preparation for Sports Night began in February and continued until April, the occasion when each team's act was presented before an audience of family and friends. Since the production was created, directed, and produced by interested Senior girls, the selection and partrayal of the team's theme required ingenuity and skill. Rehearsal after rehearsal was dedicated to perfecting routines and learning the "ins and outs" of quality acting. The many practices held after school were well worth the time and energy, for it was during the actual Sports Night presentation that one could appreciate the talents, spirit, and sportsmanship of the MR girls. Intertwined with the desire to win was a need of greater importance — to coordinate the team's efforts into the best possible performance while realizing the satisfaction of good sportsmanship.

Business Is Booming

The National Business Hanor Society was created to acknowledge the high achievements of students in the business field. The members offered their service to the teachers in the form of filing or typing, thus demonstrating leadership within the school. In order to qualify as a member, the student had to have taken three business courses and maintained an 85% average or better in each course. Futhermore, the student had to sustain a 75% average or better in the academic areas of study plus receive teacher recommendations from the Business Department. The society met once a month to plan field trips to various business organizations and to arrange visits by guest speakers in the field of business and finance. The National Business Honor Society hoped to provide its students with valuable experience and skills for their future positions in the working world.

An organization in Mario Regina which recognized the scholastic achievements of outstanding students was the National Honor Society.

Membership in the Hanor Society was open to students in 10th, 11th and 12th grade together with 9th grade students who were etigible to become provisional members. The minimum requirements for membership in the Maria Regina Chapter were an academic standing in the top 10% of the class, and, a nomination by the council of faculty members who evaluated the individual's scholarship, leadership service and character. The members of the society gave service to the school as tutors, teacher-aides, and guides during school functions.

This year, there were approximately 200 members in Maria Regina's chapter of the National Hanor Society with the largest representation coming from the Senior Class.

With a broad scape which encompossed for more than public discussion and debate, the Forensics Club, guided by Sister Marianne Addy, tried to develop articulate and confident leaders. As a means of self expression, students were able to select one or more topics in the categories of debate, extemporaneous speaking, declamation, dramatics, original oratory, and oral interpretation of literature. The team of thirty students sponsored and participated in tournaments along with over 160 other contestants from Nassau and Suffalk Counties and Brooklyn. Officers were selected each year on the basis of individual initiative to lead and direct the team. The Forensics Club welcomed any student who wished to broaden himself in the art of public speaking.

M.R.'s Melting Pot

MR's literary magazine, STONE SOUP, was aptly titled since it served as a "melting pot" for student contribution of stories, poems, artwork and photography.

STONE SOUP, in its third year of distribution, was produced by the students under the leadership of Janet Travers, Editor, and the guidance of Mr. Salvatore Fallica. Performing a service to both the individual student and the entire MR community, STONE SOUP was an indispensable element in our school.

The task of gathering four years of memories into a single book was a difficult one faced by the LAUREATE staff. Under the guidance of our moderator, Sister Patricia Raoney, dedicated Seniors made the dream of the yearbook become a reality. Memories will never fade of unfinished captions, revision of copy three at more times and the rush to meet deadlines. Although there was always more than enough assignments to complete, the staff managed to enjoy working together to make the yearbook a success. Their vast talents and individual creativity helped to develop not only an outstanding yearbook in which to hold fond high school memories, but an incredible and lasting experience

The successful production of a school newspaper depended greatly on both cooperation and initiative. The dedicated staff of REFLECTOR proved to incorporate these two aspects into their work. Under the direction of Sister Spiritus McNulty, the students learned the technique of putting out a paper. Applying this knowledge, the students gave of their free time to five news issues each year

A Cultural Pursuit

The threshold of room 225 could best be described as Mario Regina's border with Deutscheland. The air inside was thick with the culture which the German Club represented A native German herself, Sister Marie Carmel Wirsching was the heart and moderator of this club since its commencement. Belonging to the National Federation of German Students, club members participated in the National and State Conventions as well as the famous Steuben Day Parade. In addition to that, dancing and food sampling were subjects for monthly club meetings. Open to all students, the German Club had been a means of interaction between the German and American cultures, as well as that of individual students.

Strumming Along Together

This year a new organization was added to the extensive list of clubs and activities here at MR Assisted by Mr. William Wrensen, a group of tolented and interested students formed the Guitar Club, which met once a week after school. At these meetings the club practiced for their main function here at school, that of enhancing the Liturgical Celebration. Different techniques as well as various music forms were an integral part of the club's weekly meetings. In the future, the Guitar Club hopes to expand its curriculum in order that students will be able to learn the basic elements of the guitar.

Strictly Instrumental

There was no advertising agent to compare to the distinction Maria Regina's Band had achieved. Under the direction of Sister M. Edith Halligan, this organization served to enhance the school's reputation as well as to enrich many school events.

The band was composed of three sections: Concert, Stage, and Marching Bands. Concert Band included all group members. These musicians performed annually at both the Christmas and Spring Concerts using a variety of selections. The Stage Band was an occomplished group of musicians who dealt with the Big Band Renditions. Membership in both the Stage and Marching Bands depended on instrumental talent as well as a willingness to attend rehearsals. The latter section performed at football games and parades

Sports Elite

The Varsity Club was established for the explicit purpose of promoting and organizing many of MR's activities. Consisting of lettermen in basketball, baseball, football, soccer, track, and wrestling, this group availed itself whenever the need arose for student initiative and cooperation in school affairs. Through the direction of Mr. DeStephano and aid of Captain Ed Sergison, the Varsity Club made a not ceable contribution to our school. Assisting at basketball games and other sports events, the club members sold tickets and generally helped out whenever passible. Concerned lettermen also made sure that things ran smoothly in the boy's gym and locker room. Pigskin Power

Ever challenging, Maria Regina's 1977 football players developed such teamwork that "Crown Power" was no longer an illusion. Led by the head coach, Mr. Thaddeus Sela, and assistant coach, Mr. John Wolff, the Crowns commenced their season well, only to lose several close games toward the latter part of the season. Their final record culminated in 3 wins and 6 losses

The opening game of the season against St. Agnes saw the Crowns emerge victorious, crushing their opponent by a score of 31-6. The offense gained 408 yards, while the defense held the Stags to 36 yards total, including 29 rushing

After losing to St. John's and Holy Trinity, MR bounced back by averpowering St. Anthony's, 14-6, with both touchdowns scored in the last quarter of the game. The following week, MR faced Holy Family, and continued their winning streak. The leam, led by Chuck Priore and star Quarterback Bill Meditz, was able to achieve two touchdowns for the Crowns, resulting in the score 12-2.

Losses to St. Dominic's on Homecoming, Chaminade, Poly Prep and Mount St Michael dampened an otherwise fairly favorable season; however, a 'never give up' spirit prevailed

This year's team sported a talented combination of Seniors and Juniors: Mike Scully, Paul Curtis, and Bob Rutherford were selected to the All-League Team for their individual play; and Glenn Schmidt was awarded honorable mention

With a fine showing this year by the underclassmen, the prospects of future football prowess cannot help but become a victorious reality.

A Homecoming Away From Home

As in the past, our Homecoming on October 30 was the highlight of the fall football season. MR's opponent for the day was St. Dominic's of Oyster Boy, the powerhouse of the 1975 season. Despite being on the short end of a 23 to 14 score, the MR spirit never faltered. The large crowd which gathered at our "home away from home field" in Garden City represented the many sides of Maria Regina. Before the game, MR's kickline, interspersed with the performance of the marching band, provided the needed entertainment and spirit which has been so much a part of our Homecoming games. Led by our Varsity cheerleaders, fans re-echoed cheers for an MR victory.

One of the peak moments in an already energetic day was the presentation of the honor of Homecoming Queen to Denise Hussey, chosen by the male partian of the Senior class

After the game was over, by no means did the festivities of the big day come to a clase. As the daylight slowly faded and the sun slid from the sky, many celebrations were just getting underway. Marathon Men

Cross Country was a sport that demanded relentless determination from the runner. Mixed emotions flashed through the Harrier's mind at the commencement of every race. "Run, strive, keep going, just a little langer, kick, lift the knees, only the last stretch to go, then the finish line," were the thoughts which malivated him to meet his challenge. Through some inner compulsion, he had overcome pain and suffered its stress to fulfill his purpose

MR's Cross Country team certainly exemplified these characteristics. They usually placed among the top ten out of as many as 250 schools in the large invitational meets. By taking fourth in the League Championship, the team ended with a very respectable record.

The JV Team, although finishing sixth in the League Championship, come home with the second place plaque at the Intersectionals, in which all the Catholic Schools in the City and on the Island participated

Special recognition must be given to Jim McCutcheon for his outstanding performance. His accomplishment of going undefeated in dual meet competition has been previously accomplished only once in MR's history. By winning the Nassau Coaches Meet in a time of 15:42, Jim established the school record for the three mile course at New York Institute of Technology. At the St. Anthony Invitational, he continued his winning streak by placing first, and established a new school record of 15:28.9 for the Sunken Meadow three mile course. The next record to fall was at Bethpage State Park where his time of 15:24.2 was the fastest of the day.

Both Jim McCutcheon and Jerry Stoll were selected for the League All-Star Team, whereas Jim also accepted membership in the Intersectional Team. By placing fifth in the League Championship, Jerry showed that his award as All-Star was well-deserved. At the Eastern States Championship, Jim placed 6th and Jerry 42nd out of a field of 275 competitors.

The team's accomplishments were achieved largely as a result of their hard work and many hours of practice; however, the team awed appreciation to Mr. John Harbulak's efforts as coach, recognizing him as the ever-constant force behind all their team endeavors.

The 1976 season proved to be an outstanding one for Maria Regina's Varsity and JV Swim Teams. Each team ended the season by capturing the Nassau-Suffalk Private High School Girls' Athletic Association League Championship.

The Varsity Swim Team, led by Seniors Maureen Norris, Kathy McNulty, Barbara Gardner and Margaret Natuzzi, finished the season with an impressive 5-1 record. They suffered their only defeat to Holy Trinity losing by a mere 10 points in the decisive meet. In spite of this defeat, the girls returned and month later to capture the League Championship from Holy Trinity. Thanks to the undefeated 200 meter freestyle relay team, Maria Regina clinched the championship by capturing first place in the last event. Noteworthy performances by Sophamores Sue Amelia and Sherry Rooney in the backstroke and freestyle events led MR to a very successful season and their first championship.

The JV Swim Team accomplished the ultimate goal as they became League champions with a 6-0 record. Led by Pat Boyle and Senior Theresa Burns, the JV squad had a superb year. Hopefully most of the team will return next year and with experienced coaching from Miss Patricia Conton, bring another championship to Maria Regina.

This year's high-spirited Volleyball Team experienced the many ups and downs that occur during the course of a season. The girls did not capture first place liyer the advantage of high school competition proved to be enriching.

Coach Patricia Conton helped the girls to understand and participate in the game at a higher level. This was achieved through much dedication and time spent in practice

Since valleyball was a team sport which required the cooperation of all, the success of the season could be seen in the development of sportsmanship and the good times shared together.

The basketball season, traditional as it was in Maria Regina, was one of the highlights of the school's sports calendar. Playing in a very tough league, Coach Bill Donlon's team was written off early in the season as an easy mark Starting off slowly, losing six of their first nine games, MR's Crowns suddenly sprong to life

With their upset over powerhouse St. Anthony's, 51-49, and subsequent wins over Holy Family and St. John's, the team headed in a new direction. The climatic point of the season had to be the victory over the league-leader, Holy Trinity. With the Crowns down by one point, Jim Collins' three free throws in the last crucial seconds gave MR a 72-69 upset. The team advanced to the second round of the playoffs by defeating St. Pius, 80-46, only to see their season end with a 44-49 loss to St. Anthony's

The Freshman Team, coached by Mr. Greg Mayerhoffer, pulled in a spectacular 17-3 finish. Coupled with this was the fact that the Varsity Team, comprised mainly of underclassmen, with only five Seniors — Tom Crotty, Jim Collins, Jim Madelmayer, Jamie Curran and Chris Meekins — promised that the prospects for the future look anything but dim.

One of the most popular sports offered at MR was Girls' Bosketball. The beginning of this season was eagerly awaited by those who had previously played on the teams as well as those who were just trying out.

The girls, coached by an enthusiastic Mrs. Cecilia Rutkowski, worked fervently to achieve their greatest potential. Even though Varsity finished with a 4-9 record, their captain Monique Rudel, brought encouragement and unity to the team. The other Senior Varsity team members included Annie Combes, Ann Doyle and Lisa Salter.

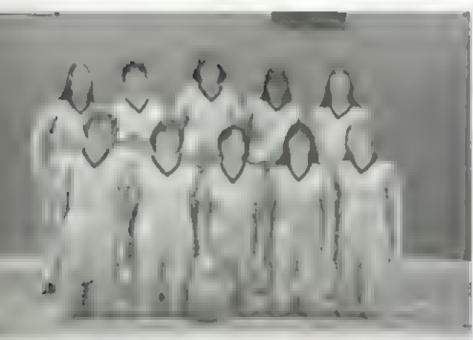

Both the JV and Varsity learn members enjoyed their challenging season. The experience of basketball competition will long be cherished as one where each participant grew to know the meaning of learn spirit, cooperation, and friendship

Determination and constant effort go hand in hand in enabling the gymnast to realize her potential. None of these qualities were lacking in the MR Gymnastic Team, as seen through a history of competitive excellence. A motivating force and asset to the team was the enthusiasm of Coach Lynda Hopkins. Engaging in lengthy practices which involved strenuous but necessary exercises on the four types of apparatus — balance beam, floor, uneven parattels and horse — these girls could not help but create another victorious MR team.

Laps of Time

The sport of running track at MR progressed to the point where it became synonymous with success. This year's team was no exception as it accomplished feats that were truly autstanding. The most memorable aspect of this season, however, was that of the snow-covered track which, regardless of how many times it was shoveled, always managed to acquire a new blanket of snow after each clearing.

At the League Relay Carnival, held at St. John's, MR acquired a total of 35 medals, with first place victories in the high hurdle relay, 880 yd. relay, and triple jump. At the St. Francis Invitational, in which 175 schools participated, Jim McCutcheon led the team with his victory in the two mile run in the time of 9:27.9 seconds. Joe Mainente's performance was the highlight of the Iona Invitational, winning the 60 yd. high hurdles in 8 seconds flat

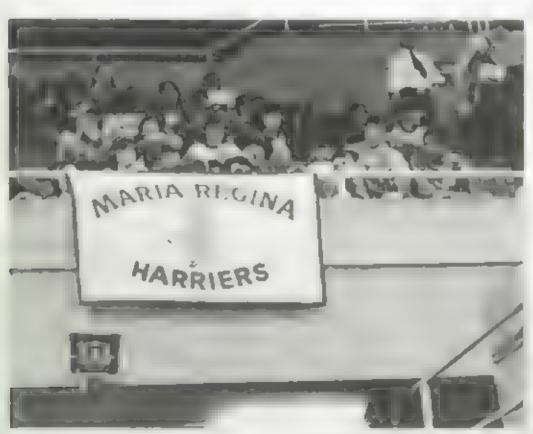

The team placed fourth in the Indoor League Championship, held at the 168 Street Armory. Jim McGahan set a new school record of 6 ft. 2 in. in the high jump, while Jim McCutcheon in a move of strategy, won the two mile run in the unseeded section of his race.

By winning the 880 yd. relay in the Intersectional Championship, the team, along with Jim McCutchean in the two mile run, qualified to participate at the Eastern States Championship, held at Princeton University

At the Indoor Soph-Frash League Championship, the JV team placed second, while the Freshmen, for the second consecutive year, succeeded in bringing home the first place plaque

During the outdoor season, Ken Harkins and Jim Gill consistently converted their sprints into MR victories, while Gerry Stall led in the middle distance events. Highlights of the season included the Penn Relays, which saw the Harriers compete in Philadelphia, and Floral Park Relays, and the New York Relays

As coach, Mr. John Harbulak, assisted by Mr. George Sandas, deserves much credit for the team's achievements, having inspired them to perform to the best of their ability in the realm of track and field competition

Thomas and Stephanie West discuss the upcoming game strategy with softball coach, Mrs. Rutkowski

From watching the girls' softball teams in action, it was easy to see why the sport was so popular at Maria Regina. Team spirit and cooperation helped to make softball exciting for both the spectator and participant.

Girls tried out early in the spring and became members of either the Varsity team, coached by Mrs. Cecilia Rutkowski, or of the Junior Varsity team, coached by Mr. Joe McNulty. Each of the teams was made up of fifteen girls who held one of nine field positions. The six returning Seniors helped to pass on their experience and spirit of unity to the newer team members. Since softball is a fast moving version of baseball, it provided each girl with the opportunity to participate in each game.

The girls' softball teams won several league championships for MR, proving that they were more than a mere competitive group. With over twenty-five girls interested in playing the sport, it could not have resulted in anything less than sheer enjoyment for both the team and their staunch supporters

When the weather conditions assumed a moderate temperature, nothing could stop MR's girls from adding luster to the wear and tear of the quarter mile track

The girls' track team, coached by Mrs. Morie Lane, sacrificed many long hours in preparation for their meets. The team was composed of girls from all grades who worked diligently to acquire the necessary skills which were so much a part of their winning performance. Their dedication was just one more example of the vibrant spirit found throughout Maria Regina

In its fourth year of competition, the Lacrosse Team progressed from a rather inexperienced group of athletes into an outfit that proved to be a challenge on the competitive scene. Under the skillful direction of rookie coach, Mr. Cleveland Winfield, the leam saw its popularity continue to grow. Diamonds Are a Boy's Best Friend

With the advent of spring and its warmer weather came the start of the baseball season. At MR, the baseball activity began with tryouts on March 1 and ended with the hope of participating in the playoffs at the conclusion of May.

Maria Regina had always fielded successful teams and last year was no exception. At that time, the Varsity and Junior Varsity teams both made their respective playoffs and advanced to the semifinals.

The autlook for 1977 was bright in spite of the fact that Coach Richard Flynn, chosen "Coach of the Year" by his peers in 1976, had only two returning Seniors, Bill Meditz and John O'Malley. Since the underclassmen — former JV members — provided more than sufficient support for the team, Mana Regina's baseball team concluded its season proud of its undertakings having reached their goal.

MR's Most Loyal Fans

Almost any athletic event at MR could be assured the presence and encouragement of two special individuals who had given unselfishly of themselves to maintain the spirit of MR Sister Ascension Lynch and Mr. Marcel Coulon became as familiar a sight at our games, matches, and meets, as were the players themselves. The incredible support that they showed over the past years was outstanding. It is our hope that this thankful recognition in some way expresses the gratitude of MR's athletes toward their most loyal fans.

No One's Afraid of Mr. Wolff

Closely associated with the light and spirited aspects of MR life was our coach Mr. John Wolff. Whether it was at a gym class, football practice, a wrestling match, or baseball tryouts, Mr. Wolff was always present with either a little encouragement or a good laugh. He has, without a doubt, left his mark at MR with the athletes he coached, the students he taught, and the people whom he met

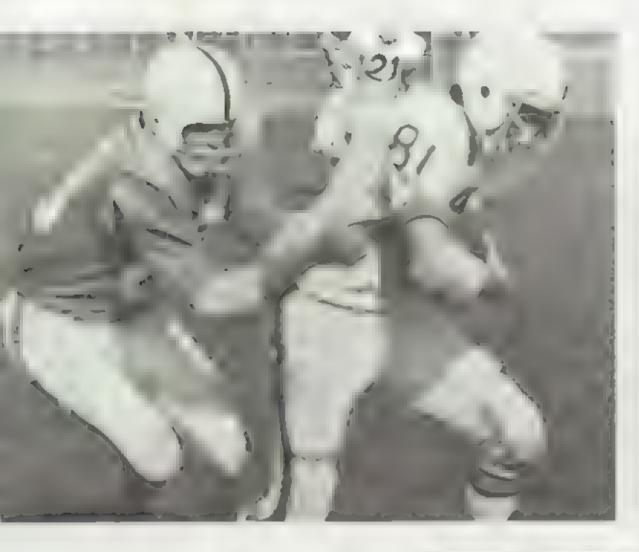

Winners Never Quit; Quitters Never Win

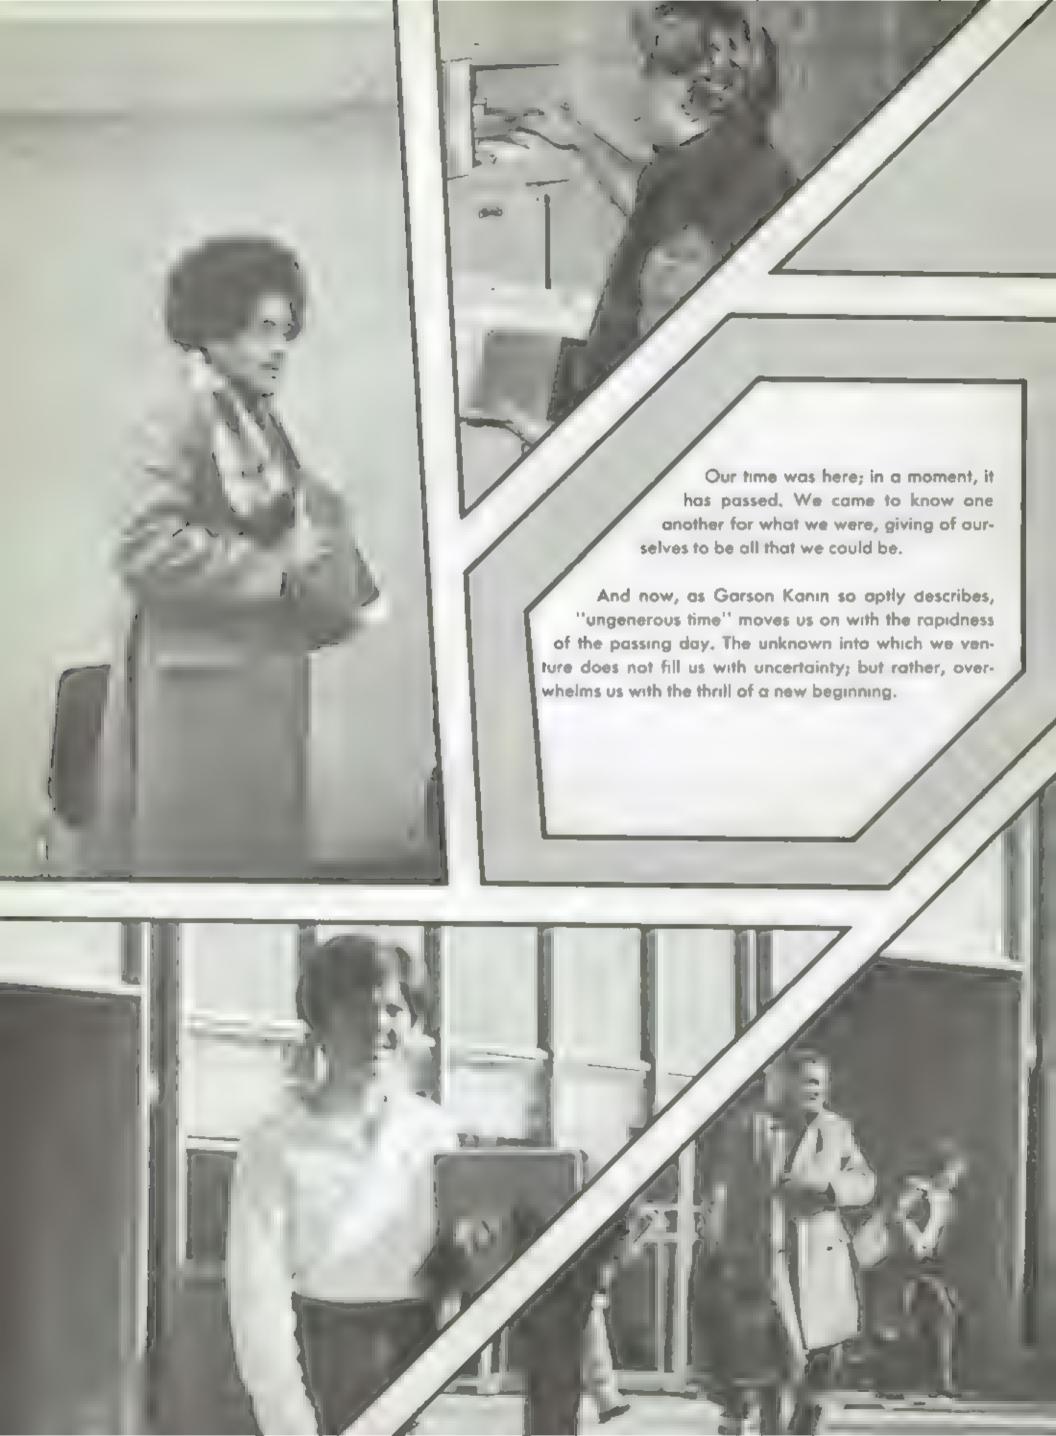

We've grown so much since yesterday when unbecoming uniform skirts and shirts adaptable to a tie were the principal dress code.

Those were the days when we used the cafeteria as a waiting depot for gourmet excursions to McDonald's.

We've changed, but it has surely been for the better. We've learned to enjoy each other's company rather than employ each other as a symbol of our popularity or status.

We've come to reach out and trust one another rather than remain distant and solitary figures.

It's a nice teeling and comforting feeling to know that we've crystallized into an exquisite group of people who hopefully have learned as much about the world around us as we have about the academic subjects presented to us.

For it is accurate to say that a well rounded individual is one who's been equally touched by both.

The years passed quickly, though the days seemed endless. First period, second period, third period; sometimes, the last bell just never seemed to ring!

There were so many good times shared and, of course, problems resolved. These moments have passed, but the memories linger on for years to come.

Acknowledgements

It would be a difficult task for the Laureate Staff to express all our sincerest thanks to the many people who helped to make our book an actuality.

As in any production, many hours of personal sacrifice and concern went into the making of Laureate '77. When we reflect upon the difficulties which then seemed so crucial, we remember those who were there to help us through the memorable rough spots.

To Mr. Philip St. Pierre of the Taylor Publishing Company, we extend our gratitude for his professional guidance and patience as we, unexperienced newcomers, struggled to build a memory.

We would also like to thank Mr. Bill Welter and Carol Studios for the many hours spent capturing Mario Regina on film.

To Fr. Mullen, the administration and Faculty, we express our thanks for their unselfish cooperation. To our teachers for their "camera smiles" and acceptance of our "late to class" excuses, we are deeply grateful.

And, with much warmth and inexpressible thanks, we acknowledge our moderator Sr. Patricia Rooney, without whose instruction our yearbook could not have become a reality.

To the many other individuals who so graciously contributed their time and effort, we are most appreciative.
